Sorry, the formatting is still messy, inconsistent lines. I'll fix that and the footnotes, but perhaps not this week if that's OK. Let me know if there is any window for doing these things at this point. Thanks,

Karen

Hi Allen,

I was reviewing Table C-4 to adapt for another chemical, and found something about the formatting was not stable. Here is a revised version that should cause fewer problems. The footnotes are still off--no footnote a. If you think it safer for me to fix than the technical editor, I'll fix that. Regards,

Hi Allen,

I had some formatting issues with this--it keeps losing formatting I've saved several times, mostly centering table entries. I also just noticed that the footnotes in the last table are mislabeled; somehow the footnotes start with b rather than a. Perhaps the technical editor can fix that.

Several tables work best in landscape mode. I hope this can be retained. I'd also like to see the ToxReview after it comes back from technical editing before it is finalized, just to be sure all of the formats still work.

Thanks,

Karen

Allen,

Sorry not to have gotten back to you sooner. We could talk later today (am going to sit in on part of the Agency Review mtg) or tomorrow (no mtgs except the Science Policy discussion). I'm off Friday, then Monday is completely open. I'm in from about 8:30 to 6.

Would you be able send a pdf of Rob's PBPK paper? I couldn't get one on-line. Thanks,

All,

Attached below are the notes that I took at the EPR meeting (disjointed and stream-of-consciousness as they may be) to supplement the comments that we received from the reviewers and DuPont. I'd like to get in touch with each of you individually to begin to talk about your interpretations of the reviewer's (and DuPont's) comments and what work needs to be done to appropriately address their concerns. Maybe we can discuss your respective sections sometime next week? Respond back with times that are good for you. In the meantime, I'm going to go ahead this week and make all of the editorial changes that were suggested.

Thanks for all of your hard work up to this point,

Allen

AII,

I've gone through the reviewer's specific comments and made any suggested editorial changes that they suggested as well as added their more substantive suggestions as comments in the document. I know it's a pain to find exactly where in a document a comment refers sometimes, so I hope this helps.
